

Welcome

Enjoy Your Visit!

Allens Pond Wildlife Sanctuary is a 595-acre sanctuary encompassing a coastal salt-pond, pristine salt marsh, barrier beach, coastal heath, shrublands, forested wetlands, and grasslands.

We strive to be a model for stewardship. We accomplish this with support from a corps of volunteers including people of all ages and local school groups. With their help we control invasive species, restore habitats, and conduct ecological monitoring of New England Blazing Star, saltmarsh grasses, salamanders, Eastern Bluebirds, Piping Plovers, Osprey, grassland birds, and butterflies.

Mass Audubon works to protect the nature of Massachusetts for people and wildlife. Together with more than 100,000 members, we care for 35,000 acres of conservation land, provide school, camp, and other educational programs for 225,000 children and adults annually, and advocate for sound environmental policies at local, state, and federal levels. Founded in 1896 by two inspirational women who were committed to the protection of birds, Mass Audubon is now one of the largest and most prominent conservation organizations in New England. Today we are respected for our sound science, successful advocacy, and innovative approaches to connecting people and nature. Each year, our statewide network of wildlife sanctuaries welcomes nearly half a million visitors of all ages, abilities, and backgrounds and serves as the base for our work. To support these important efforts, call 800-AUDUBON (800-283-8266) or visit www.massaudubon.org.

Quansett Trail System including Beach Loop Trail offers you the opportunity to observe, interact with, and learn about the great diversity of habitats at the sanctuary. Quansett Trail winds through coastal shrublands and wetland forest leading to Zylfee Brook and Reuben's Point Overlooks, both providing breath-taking vistas overlooking Allens Pond saltmarsh and first-class bird watching.

Allens Neck Trail System, located off Allens Neck Road, offers 3 miles of trails through wetlands and agricultural fields along the Woodland and Boulder Loops leading to a 55 acre warm-season grassland popular with both bird and butterfly watchers. (From 1280 Horseneck Road follow north, take a right onto East Horseneck Road, take your 1st right onto Allens Neck Road, the trailhead will be ¼ mile ahead.)
